

The Coal Summit

June 20-22, 2002

Charleston Civic Center

A conference on the human and environmental impacts of coal mining and coal combustion.

At Kentucky's largest mountaintop removal mine, over 300 million gallons of sludge broke through from an impoundment, fouling 75 miles of streams.

Learn how we can keep the lights on AND keep the mountains!

Featuring:

- Panels of speakers
- Presentations by prominent community organizers
- Field trips to communities most impacted by mining
 - Flyovers of mountaintop removal sites
(For field trips and flyover call in advance.)
